

The Bakersfield College Vernon Valenzuela Veterans Resource Center Groundbreaking

Because of Kern County's support for voting Yes on Measure J in 2016, the first bond supported building construction project is now underway on the Panorama campus. On Monday, Nov. 5th, the Renegade Family, alongside a number of community leaders, celebrated the groundbreaking of the Vernon Valenzuela Veterans Resource Center.

Scheduled to be finished next Fall, the new VRC will be a space for the growing population of veterans at BC to receive the support they deserve throughout the transition from combat to college and completion.

Bakersfield College is fortunate to have the support of community leaders such as Mayor Karen Goh, Supervisor Leticia Perez, and Assembly Member Vince Fong who were all present for the event. Special thanks to Chancellor Tom Burke and Trustees Kay Meek, Romeo Agbalog, and Bill Thomas for your steadfast support of our student veterans. In the words of Paul Beckworth, "we look forward to this new home for our heroes."

BC in the Vineyards Project

In partnership with the Central Valley Farm workers Foundation, BC's Rural Initiatives team and outreach advisors visited 20 farmworker crews at local vineyards throughout North and South Kern.

Through their outreach to promote higher education, the BC team was able to reach over 1200 farmworkers, planting a seed of hope for higher education. Since their visits, over 150 workers have requested follow-up services to begin their matriculation.

Community Healthcare Needs An Educational Perspective

Bakersfield College recently partnered with CSU Bakersfield and Senator Andy Vidak to host a forum for discussion between healthcare professionals in our region and higher education faculty.

Bruce Peters, President & CEO of Mercy Hospitals, Sharlet Briggs, President & CEO of Adventist Health, and Dr. Jeet Singh, local Cardiology Specialist were just a few of the healthcare leaders in attendance.

During the morning, BC's Associate Dean of Instruction, Carla Gard shared her insight on BC's nursing program while KCCD Associate Vice Chancellor, Cindy Collier shared more about the vision and future of the healthcare workforce development in Kern.

Attendees discussed how we can partner through industry and education to ensure Kern County is being provided the programs necessary to prevent shortfalls in occupation employment.

BC Named Employer of the Year at 2018 Mayor's HIRE Luncheon

Bakersfield College is proud to be recognized as Employer of the Year for Large Business at the 2018 Mayor's HIRE Luncheon. The luncheon, which took place on October 16, 2018, celebrates local employees with disabilities, employers, and National Disability Employment Awareness month.

Originally founded by former Bakersfield Mayor Harvey Hall, current Mayor Karen Goh is continuing to champion and celebrate diversity within our workforce.

Bakersfield College staff, Daniel Gutierrez, was also nominated for Employee of the Year nominee while long-time volunteer on the Bakersfield College Workability Advisory Board, Howard Silver, was nominated for the Harvey L. Hall Humanitarian of the Year Award.
