- o Motion for HIST B9 discussion-
m/s Nick Strobel/Stephen Tavoni

HIST B9 discussion - 20 minutes:

Discussion occurred with four main segments: those in support, neutral, in opposition and open discussion.

Support: The history department expressed concern about process changes, different standards for this course, and expectations of comparable courses. The department has made modifications and will entertain a friendly amendment to modify more of the areas of concern.

Neutral: HIST B9 could meet the critical thinking with some revisions. A better research method for evaluating the effectiveness of critical thinking courses was proposed. The use of an objective 6-year evaluation for all critical thinking courses, including HIST B9, was suggested. After which, GE designation would be revisited, for all courses.

Opposed: The English department felt the history course was too specific and that there are other courses that meet that area.

Current GE team member said the team tried to be objective. He doesn't think History fits the criteria of Title 5 analytical thinking.

Past GE team member said the GE team did nothing different for HIST B9. He noted that the course is requesting IGETC and not CSU GE. He said there is no evidence that this course will improve critical thinking ability. He asked the committee to consider student impact.

Open Discussion:

Clarification of process - If a course has overlooked a CSU area, the committee can enter it as a friendly amendment. It has been done before.

The history department said they took the recommendations from the GE team seriously. They were asked for materials to be in the outline even though they were already in the objectives. No other course has been required to provide statistical evidence. The department said they would be make more changes if requested.

Multiple committee members suggested the committee entertain a friendly amendment.

Curriculum Co-Chair suggested a vote for IGETC 1B with a friendly amendment this meeting and then CSU A3 at a later meeting. The friendly amendment will be that the history department will update/respond to all of the requested changes: critical thinking assignment, updated outline, additional textbook, research project with application and historical methodology.

The GE team will review CSU A3 before next meeting.

- o Course revisions requesting GE HIST B9 with friendly amendment.

m/s: Keri Kennedy/Pat Aderhold

Voice vote for recommendation: Jacy Hill, Kristopher Stallworth, Charles Daramola, Stephen Tavoni, Jennifer Rachal (proxy Teresa McAllister), Pat Aderhold, Bernadette Towns, David Neville, Konrad Dahl (Fall), Laura Luiz, Ronnie Knabe, Mike Daniel, Misty Stowers, Sarah Villasenor, Perla Villegas, Keri Kennedy, Nick Strobel, Mark Osea.

Opposed: Michael Korcok, Michael McNellis, Mike Fredenberg, Shane Jett, and Lynn Krausse.

Abstained: None
Motion: Passed

One committee member who voted in opposition requested that it be noted that the committee voted in opposition of the three disciplines that currently teach courses that satisfy Critical Thinking GE.

- Unfinished Business- None

- New Business-None

- Reports-
 - Curriculum Co-Chair –Thanked everyone on the committee including the DE and GE teams for their hard work. Based on the GE taskforce recommendations from last year, there is going to be a process review checklist created by the Articulation Officer to help with GE review. We are not going to go back, we are going to move forward. The GE team makes recommendations, the committee votes. Academic Senate President has been asked to provide training on the Brown Act in the Spring. When reviewing COR's, minimum qualifications for teaching should be reviewed. Training will be provided at a later meeting. November 11 is the deadline to get curriculum on the 2nd agenda for 2020-2021 catalog. November 14th is the last meeting to get course approved for the catalog. November 21st meeting will probably be short and just for voting.

 - Assessment Co-Chair –No report.

- Good, Welfare and Concerns-None

- Adjournment-Jennifer Johnson adjourned the meeting at 3:43 p.m.
