FORE	B2	Natural Resources	3	Revision	Yes	Yes	BC GE Area B1	Re-Review	Deny	- The course is too practical and applied. It does not focus on the foundations of ecological principles. - It does not describe the methodologies of science. - Course is not clear in how it applies quantitative reasoning and logical concepts in solving problems and analyzing arguments. - Remove Summer 2020
FORE	B2	Natural Resources	3	Revision	Yes	Yes	CSU GE Area E	Re-Review	Do Not Recommend	- Per the CSU Guiding Notes, courses approved for Area E must "equip learners for lifelong understanding and development of themselves as integrated physiological, social, and psychological beings." Courses that pertain to "social relationships and relationships are allowed" as long as the psychological, sociological, and physiological modes are addressed. The course does not adequately address the development of the student and their interactions with the environment through the three modes of inquiry.
FORE	B2	Natural Resources	3	Revision	Yes	Yes	CSU GE Area B2	Add	Do Not Recommend	- The course is too practical and applied. - The course is not an appreciation of how scientists do science; it reads more like a course of what scientists have concluded.
